

Management – Seasons

Please note that all data used in the management section is used for reporting purposes amongst other important functions. Any accidental deletion of data should be promptly reported to the Web Master as records will lose its relationship with other records.

Please use delete 'sparingly'. Once the data has been used in a game, it will begin its complex network of relationships that ties all the game information together.

Is This The Current Season? (Only One Season Can Be Current)
☐

By default, the current season is always used. There can only be one current season. To select the current season, place a check mark on the season selected and save changes. This would change the current season to the one selected.
